Jungle canopy- identity

Did you know there are between 900 thousand and 1 million different species of insects in the world?! Each type is unique.

We are all unique too. We look different from each other, we like different things, we are good at different things. Have a look at the end of your finger. Look at the marks on it. That's called your fingerprint. There's no-one in the entire galaxy that has the same fingerprints as you (even if you are a twin!). Isn't that amazing?!

Christians believe the God made each one of us unique and special and he loves us just as we are.

If you would like to, to remember how unique you are, make an insect out of pipecleaners that represents you. Then attach it to the camouflage netting somewhere and think or pray about how special you are.
